QUARTETT ACCUSED OF DYNAMITE PLOT DISCHARGED

DISAPPEARANCE OF NICK REMEGE BRINGS TRIAL TO SUDDEN TERMINATION AT THE COUNTY SEAT TODAY

INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE INTRODUCED BEFORE MAGISTRATE TO WARRANT HOLDING H. C. BROKAW, RICHARD CARLISLE, FRED WILSON AND J. E. ROGERS AND THEY ARE ORDERED DISMISSED FROM CUSTODY.

On account of the absence of Nicholas Remege, one of the star witnesses for the prosecution the cases pending against H. C. Brokaw, Richard Carlisle, Fred Wilson and J. E. Rogers, were ordered dismissed and the four men who have been detained in the county jail at Martinez will be released from custody. Insufficient evidence was the ground upon which Justice of the Peace Charles Hayden based his action. The sudden termination of the four cases came as a complete surprise to many who had gathered at the county seat hoping to see conclusive evidence introduced against the defendants. There was some startling testimony predicted for the preliminary, which fell flat with the findings of the court.

The four men have been confined in the county jail for about eight weeks and when the preliminary hearing of Brokaw was called in Judge Hayden's court yesterday it was found necessary to continue the hearing on account of the mysterious disappearance of Remege. During the course of yesterday's examination, Deputy Sheriff John Birmingham identified the two sacks of dynamite and W. Holder, Chief of Police Briare of Stockton, J. W. Davis, S. P. Bay Point agent; Constable Palmer and Sheriff Veale were also witnesses.

Veale produced several telegrams and letters which, he said, Brokaw had given him, saying: "I want you to understand just how I stand with this man Emerson."

The defense made strenuous objections to the introducing of the letters, but was overruled.

The telegrams offered in evidence was alleged to have been sent from Antioch by Emerson to Brokaw. One asked for a remittance of $20, another explained that he was leaving for Bay Point and the other asked that he and Carlisle be sent with "overalls prepared."

Attorney J. E. Rodgers represented the four accused men and it was upon his motion that the several charges were dismissed.

VOWED HE'D KILL WHOLE FAMILY

E. HAMILTON TELEPHONES TO RUST HE'S COMING

Constable Davis of Stege was aroused from his bed at 12:00 o'clock last night by his telephone over which he was informed by Mrs. J. Ortles, residing on Central avenue, in Rust, that a man whose name was later learned to be Edward Hamilton, had threatened the lives of her entire family.

Davis without further information rushed to the Ortles home where he was informed that Hamilton who had been residing at the place had become intoxicated and after threatening Mrs. Ortles had informed her that he was going to San Francisco to purchase a gun to kill the family.

Several hours later she received a telephone call from the city supposedly from Hamilton in which he stated that he was on his way to the home with the gun and to be prepared. Constable Davis remained at the Ortles home for several hours without any sign of Hamilton showing up and finally returned to his home.

According to Davis, Hamilton is alleged to have made several attempts to purchase a gun at the Rust Hardware store but was refused each time owing to his intoxicated condition.

INDEBTEDNESS OF MINORS TO BE PASSED ON BY CUSTODIAN

Important Decision Handed Down by Justice Roth Today Fixing Responsibility of Boys

DISPUTE OVER BOARD BILL
Mrs. A. Hein Brings Suit to Recover Amount Due From Sire of Young Teamster

"A debt contracted by a minor is not legal unless certified by a parent or guardian." Such was the verdict as given by Justice John Roth today in the case of Mrs. A. Hein, proprietress of the Kerby boarding house at the corner of Fifth street and Macdonald avenue who is endeavoring to recover $75 from W. L. Mills for his son's room and board.

W. L. Mills who is an engineer on the Southern Pacific railroad in Oakland was represented by a San Francisco attorney while Detective V. Harold Brown acted as the agent for Mrs. Hein in the suit.

According to John Pillow, of the firm of Pillow Bros., the Mills boy worked in the capacity of a teamster for him about two years ago about which time it is alleged that the bill was contracted with Mrs. Hein.

Mills stated that his son was possessed with a roving spirit and that he was unable to curb him at which Justice Roth stated that the state provided schools in which these faults were easily remedied.

The judge finally decided to take the case under advisement for one week before rendering a verdict.

Modern Achilles Attempts to Modernize Scenes From Homer Using Billiard Table for Walls of Troy

As the immortal Homer might have expressed it "Thrice around the walls of Troy Achilles chased the mighty Hector," the humble police blotter paraphrases the Iliad with the words: "Thrice around the billiard table at the Piedmont hotel Joe Ante chased Mrs. Oddone Mighetti, wielding a broken cue with the fury of a maddened Hercules." Ante, when he finally caught Mrs. Mighetti who flew around the table like spring zephyr, banged her first over the head with the cue and as she was collapsing punched her in the face.

Then Mrs. Mighetti screamed, with the result that Policeman Standford entered into the battle and finally managed to drag Ante to the station.

Today Mrs. Mighetti, accompanied by her husband and witnesses, appeared in court and saw their house wrecker pay a fine of $30.00.

HARSNER MUST PAY ALIMONY TO WIFE

Chester Harsner, well known saloon keeper and bartender was today instructed by Police Judge Lindsey to pay $25.00 a month alimony for the support and upkeep of his wife and two minor children.

The action of Judge Lindsey was taken today as a result of the family troubles which the Harsners have been having for some time past and aired a few days ago in the police court.

The garage when completed will be one of the largest auto repair and storage places in this city.

Work on the new building was commenced following the issuance of the permit today by Contractor John Sullivan of 6452 Harman Court avenue, Oakland.

UNCLE SAM SEEKS A GOOD MAN

Postal Authorities Looking For Someone to Succeed O. W. Alward as Mail Messenger Between R. R. Stations

With the departure of B. F. Logan for Coahoma, Texas today the postal department is looking for a messenger to carry the mails from the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific stations to the postoffice and has caused notice to be posted in a conspicuous place calling for bids for the contract. These bids must be made out at an annual rate and will be received by Postmaster Jenkins up to and including January 27, 1915.

On December 21 O. W. Alward was awarded the contract to carry the mails and entered into negotiations to purchase the automobile which had been used by his predecessor, B. F. Logan. After holding the contract for about three weeks he surrendered it to the department, not with an accident while making the automobile. From his account of the accident, Alward claims that the engine backfired with the result that his right wrist was fractured, compelling him to go on the retired list.

Since the accident occurred, the notice calling for bids for the contract has been issued by the second postmaster general and the prospects are that there will be a new messenger to take the place of Alward after the bids are opened by the department.

Independent Democratic Official Paper of City of Richmond

ALL DENOMINATIONS GOOD

Sectarian prejudice is one of the unpleasant things intruded upon lay newspapers, and the advocates of this or that sect conscientiously believes his view is the right one—that his church has the best chart by which the wayfarer may guide his footsteps heavenward. He is a special pleader who believes in his case.

The theology of the average man is summed up in the conviction that he who does the most good is the best man, that the best church turns out the best people, whatever its creed, and that a tree is known by its fruits.

When we look about us we find that the percentage of the good and the not good people, judged by their works, in the Catholic and the Protestant churches, is about the same. So also with people of the Jewish faith. In their lives, they average quite as high as the people of any other religious organization.

Hence, the impatience of some of us with those who hold different beliefs, usually because they were brought up in different environments. In Europe, there are people on one side of a river who are nearly all Lutherans, while those on the opposite bank are nearly all staunch Catholics. They are equally industrious, equally moral, equally obedient to the law, equally just and merciful and charitable, regard God with equal reverence. They have the same virtues and the same faults, when an average is struck.

The lesson of it all is that it is not so much the church to which a person belongs as the faithfulness with which he lives up to the teachings of his church. This is a world in which a man must do a man's work and must take what comes for weal or woe. It is a world of give and take, of weak and strong, or good and bad, and we must face it as we find it, and do what we can to help it. About the same percentage of the members of all churches is striving to meet the duties of life faithfully and intelligently, about the same percentage is negligent and careless, about the same percentage is vicious.

So, in view of it all, why should a secular newspaper be bothered with condemnation of this belief or approval of that, when from each about so much chaff is sifted and about so much good grain is saved.

One of the magazines got up a straw vote on presidential preferences for next year. The top-liner was Franklin K. Lane with 1,560 votes while the tailender quite naturally enough was nobody but dear old Teddy with only eleven ballots.

It seems to be a question of whose ox is being gored in this trust busting business.

The swat of tendency to believe legislation must be guided by a political dictator by Governor Willis, of Ohio, might have attracted less attention had he not been credited with having presidential 'opes.

THE POLICEMAN'S CREED

The policemen of Melrose, which is now a portion of Oakland, must be a strange lot of fellows—as policemen go. Not that policemen cannot be as good as any other calling, but taken by and large they are not generally supposed to be strong along the lines of religion and sanctification. But the Melrose policemen are different apparently, for they have adopted a creed which they are said to follow in their everyday life and actions. Here it is, as transcribed for the benefit of their brethren of the regular Oakland force:

"Teach me that sixty minutes make one hour, sixteen ounces one pound and 100 cents one dollar. "Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow and undaunted by the faces to whom I have brought pain.

"Grant I beseech thee that I may earn my meal ticket on the square.

"Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts.

"Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me mine own.

"Guide me so that each night when I look across the table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal.

"Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play.

"Then when comes the smell of flowers and the tread of soft steps and the crunching hearse's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: 'Here lies a man.'"

The contention is made by magazine war experts that the day of the dreadnaught is past and that in the future the nation which has the most and best constructed submarines will be the winner in future battles on the seas. England, it is claimed, is weak by reason of the fact that she has too large a navy to come under the destructive influences of the submarine and that she may be whipped in the present strife for the simple reason that she is depending almost entirely on her navy to win the conflict, as she has successfully done during the past several hundred years. If this is true, what is the use of the United States spending hundreds of millions of dollars on battleships? Why not construct a large number of submarines with the money and station them thickly along the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard? If submarines are to win future wars, obviously the thing to do is to build submarines and large numbers of them. Anyway, we do not believe there will be any such thing as universal peace—not in this world.

Those asking congress to abolish "bargain sales" ought to know that congressmen's wives wouldn't stand for it.

Being a neutral may not be as cocky as being a belligerent, but it's safer as well as more profitable.

HON. F. E. McGOVERN

Hon. Francis Edward McGovern the retiring Governor of Wisconsin, was born on a farm near Elkhart, Wis., on January 21, 1866. After completing his studies at the University of Wisconsin, he became a teacher, and was a school principal for seven years. He was admitted to the bar in 1897 and practiced in Milwaukee. His interest in politics brought him the office of first assistant district attorney and he was elected district attorney in 1905. He made the race for the United States Senate in 1908, and again in 1914, losing both campaigns by narrow margins. In 1911 he was elected Governor of Wisconsin and was re-elected two years later. His ambition to occupy the Senate was nearly realized in the recent election, when he came within 1,100 votes of victory, being defeated by Paul C. Huston, a Democrat. Ex-Governor McGovern makes his home at Madison, Wis. He has resumed his law practice, and it is expected he will reenter politics.

CLABBY AND GIBBONS

MILL TONIGHT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 21.—One of the real classy boxing mills of the season will be staged here tonight between Mike Gibbons and Jimmy Clabby. Clabby is acknowledged by most sporting writers as middle weight champion, while Gibbons and Eddie McGoorty dispute the title. The winner of tonight's bout will meet McGoorty and thus the title will be settled within a month.

Clabby and Gibbons have met three times before, but have not mixed up since they bloomed into the limelight. Three years ago they were chased out of the ring in Milwaukee and branded as weak-kneed exponents of the boxing game. Each will make the fight of his life tonight, not only for the come-back of reputation, but for the title that hinges on the battle.

You must keep every promise you make or people will foreclose on you in one way or another.

VARIETY IS THE SPICE AT ORPHEUM THIS WEEK

The experts among the crowds at the Oakland Orpheum who carefully criticize the vaudeville as it rolls along, seem to concede that the show this week is unusually good. They rate it so because it is like a salad dressing—made of just the right materials and pretty well blended.

For example, there is plenty of good music and good music is always in great demand in a classy vaudeville show. The Bell Family supply the bulk of this melody and they are certainly stars in their line. There are nine brothers and sisters in the aggregation. Each is a skillful artist on a variety of instruments. Altogether they produce some brilliant musical numbers. They are Mexicans of high class who wear the picturesque garments of caballero days. The stage is a gorgeous mass of color while they are in evidence and so they provide a feast both for the eye and the ear.

Everybody knows that fun is highly desirable in a vaudeville show and that is why The Avon Comedy Four are so welcome. They wake the echoes with laughter when they put on their schoolroom comedy. It is easily the funniest thing of its kind on the road.

There is spicy variety and picturesque fun and sweet music in the offering of Frederick V. Bowers and his company.

In the matter of graceful and sensational dancing the Australian McLeas are found to be superior, being about the cleverest of their kind ever appearing here.

A European novelty is provided by Rebia, known as the "Unconcerned Juggler" who is both funny and skillful—highly successful in all that he undertakes.

Hal and Francis are a youth and a maid with pleasing style with bright bits of wit and pleasant songs that make a quarter of an hour pass very pleasantly while they are on the stage.

Alfred Wallenstein and Grace Freely play on the cello and piano in masterly style.

Chas. F. Sennon keeps the audience in good humor with his musical bits and comedy chatter.

The motion pictures include a big film showing the scenes at the Exposition Ball in San Francisco at the opening of the Civic Auditorium.

The management announces that the bill next Sunday will be headed by the famous star, Joseph Santley, who recently appeared in "When Dreams Come True."

He will be assisted by a number of clever dancing girls in beautiful singing and dancing features.

LEDGE OF ZINC PLANT AGENT TAKES LOCATED ON OIL FARM ABOUT 90 PER CENT OF COLLECTIONS

TAFT, Jan. 21.—Section 12, 32-23, just outside the city limits of Taft, which has long been claimed by the Standard Oil company because of its filing on it as oil property, promises to see much litigation if all claimants go ahead with their present plans.

Three weeks ago I. L. McGary and others filed on the property under the homestead act despite the fact that there are no oil wells upon it. Less than a week ago W. H. Fulghum who has been employed by the Standard Oil company for the past several years filed on it under the mining laws, he alleging that he has discovered a ledge of zinc on it. Specimens of the zinc he has shown about Taft show it to be of great value, some of it appearing to run as high as $500 a ton. Fulghum has sent specimens to Washington D. C. and to the State University at Berkeley for examination, and expects a report on them in the next few days.

The ledge Fulghum claims was found about eight feet underground and is extremely heavy with the ore appearing the same for a distance of several feet over which he has traveled.

WANTED—Clean cotton rags; suitable for cleaning machinery, at the Record-Herald Office.

Sheriff Veale is making diligent search throughout the county for the whereabouts of W. D. Evans, former salesman for the Eilers Piano company at Antioch, who is accused by the piano company of having decamped with about three thousand dollars which belonged to the company. According to the allegations of the company the salesman opened a piano store in Antioch and sold a number of the higher grade pianos at about half price, collecting cash from the purchasers. Instead of turning the money over to the company he represented that he had sold the pianos on easy installments, sending in an initial payment averaging about ten dollars and keeping the remaining amount. This system he carried on for several months and after amassing a sufficient amount to tide him over the financial depression left for parts unknown. In the meantime the piano company has been unable to understand why the monthly installments from the purchasers has not been coming in and instituted an investigation which revealed the practice which Evans had carried on for some time past.

Being the largest city, New York probably has more jays than any other center of population in this country.

"Watching With Bated Breath the Ticker, Making Paupers of Some and Millionaires of Others" in That Wonderful Filmed Stock Exchange Play, "The Pit," at the Richmond Theatre Tonight.

HUNDREDS ENJOY PRESENTATION OF THE PIT A PLAY WITH A PUNCH

A play that thrills the blood of every spectator drew an immense audience to the Richmond theatre last evening and promises to more than crowd them in tonight. It is "The Pit" and the scenes in the Chicago grain exchange almost rival description as the millions are made and lost and the wild scenes of excitement as the price of wheat rises and falls and the bulls and bears tear at each other in a frenzy for control or ruin. There is a charming love story running through the play and the final scenes in which the neglected wife of Curtis Javlin the stockbroker is saved from a terrible step is one that will interest every man and woman.

There is a cracking good comedy in "A Rude Awakening" in which the sportily inclined young husband swears off after his wife decides to take a "night out" with some of his party of gay blades. A great big farce comedy that has been a winner all over the east will be the top liner for Friday and Saturday. It is "The Millions."

RIGID JITNEY LAW IS APPROVED FOR OAKLAND

OAKLAND, Jan. 21.—The city council of Oakland yesterday approved an ordinance regulating jitney buses and it will come up for passage to print next Monday.

The salient features of the ordinance are:

Every jitney bus driver to put up $10,000 bonds.

A license fee of $60 annually to be paid for each bus.

Regulation of routes over which each may ply by the City Council.

A complete identification system for drivers.

An examination of the moral and physical qualifications of each driver.

"EVERY SUIT AND EVERY COAT ON CREDIT

AND AT BIG REDUCTIONS!"

"Say, are you dead sure you have the 'dope' straight, Jim, about the big reduction on suits and overcoats?"

"Sure! Of course I'm sure. Didn't I just buy one myself? I paid $15 for a suit that formerly sold for $25.00. I wouldn't waste my brain wondering if I were you. I'd start down there right away. CHERRY'S address is 528 Thirteenth street."

"I'll do that! But listen! I've just been thinking about my last winter's overcoat. Will it do for the three months left of winter, do you think, Jim? It's a punk-looking coat anyway, and as long as Cherry's have reduced all their overcoats, I may as well sport one of their nifty Balmacaanes."

"Tummy, Jim, but I feel like a regular millionaire when I talk about getting more than one thing to wear at once! It's a dandy feeling. I'll take off my hat to CHERRY'S INSTALLMENT SYSTEM for giving me such a welcome lift. Besides their men's store on Thirteenth St., Oakland, they have an elegant store for ladies just across the street at 515. The San Francisco addresses are 1905 Market and 2400 Mission street, and are for both men and women. advt.

Regulation by the police.

L. C. Johnston, vice president of the Jitney Bus Drivers' association, appeared before the council and made objections to the ordinance. He said that the bond of $10,000 will cost the drivers $137 annually, which with the license of $60 and the personal tax of $15, would make up a sum large enough to preclude the running of jitney buses at a profit.

William J. Baucus, commissioner of public streets, upheld some of Johnston's contentions. He said that carefully compiled statistics showed that the cost of running a jitney bus is $7.55 per 100 miles. Johnston claimed that the drivers average only $6 per 100 miles.

Employees of the street car company yesterday filed a petition with 350 more names asking for jitney bus regulation. The jitney men filed one with 1,000 names asking for liberal treatment for the buses.

PETROLEUM IRON WORKS TO BUILD THOUSAND BARREL AGITATOR AT SHELL PLANT

MARTINEZ, Jan. 21.—Contract for the building of one agitator with a capacity of 1,000 barrels was recorded Wednesday, the agitator to be built close to the first unit of Trumbull stills by the Petroleum Iron Works Company for the Shell company. The work is to be completed by April 21st and the contract price is $2450.

The building of the stills is now going forward under the direction of Charles F. Keefe, construction chief for the Trumbull interests. The excavating and filling of the area behind the concrete retaining walls has been finished and as speedily as the weather permits the work will be pushed forward.

The first two cars of steel for the Lacy Manufacturing company were due in the local railroad yards on Wednesday afternoon and Superintendent J. A. Merrick and T. Cunningham, secretary of the company will begin moving the same to the location of the tanks on the top of the hills where the Lacy people will build four steel tanks, the excavating for those being practically complete. Cunningham was appointed deputy sheriff Wednesday to be in a position to keep order if any occasion should arise at the camp.

The tank builders have established a camp near the scene of operations where many of the men who have come here from Los Angeles and Coalinga will be housed while the work is going forward. Following the building of these tanks the Lacy firm will shift its operations to the building of six 55,000 barrel tanks east of the Fairview road. About 60 tank builders, riveters and helpers will be employed on this job for the present according to Cunningham's statement Wednesday.

"Open Shop" is Rule.

The tank building job so far as the Lacy company is concerned will be "open shop." Union wages or better will be paid for the working day of nine hours and Superintendent Merrick asserts that he expects little trouble inasmuch as owing to the scarcity of work in this line in the state, jobs are comparatively few and the men anxious to work.

O'Brien Brothers who have the contract for the grading for the tanks and other buildings and the hauling of the material from the railroad yards to the scene of the building work have a large force of men engaged here. Within a few days their operations will be

OWENS AGAINST BIFURCATED SESSION

Senator J. C. Owens yesterday submitted a constitutional amendment in the Legislature, abolishing the bifurcated session thereof and restoring the old system of transacting the State's business at one sitting of the solons.

The change was made under the Johnson regime and was calculated by those supporting the scheme as giving the legislators time to consider measures of importance which were introduced.

After being given a thorough test it has been found that the plan does not achieve the end intended. In that it affords opportunity for "lobbying" outside of the Capitol. It has been demonstrated that men who were radically opposed to certain measures when first introduced have come back to Sacramento with entirely opposite views, indicating that pressure had been brought to bear upon them to espouse the displaced legislation.

According to those who have watched the system, it is not only the cause of much inconvenience to the members of the Legislature, but is a failure in that it does not accomplish the end for which it was intended—the purity of the election law.

One of the most interesting papers is that of John Bassett Moore, on "Problems Arising in War and Commerce." This afternoon the first subject is "Government Regulation of Commerce as Affecting Foreign Trade," and many expressions will be heard on this topic. Problems of the smaller manufacturers will then be taken up by able speakers.

Tonight the banquet will be served, at which Alba B. Johnson of Philadelphia will be toastmaster.

Tomorrow's meeting will be devoted to the merchant marine problem, which is agitating the country just now. The viewpoint of manufacturers, exporters and government representatives will be presented. Commercial education for foreign trade is another subject set for tomorrow. Prof. Edwin F. Gay of Harvard will present the principal paper. It will be pointed out that the study of Spanish, French and German languages is one of the greatest requirements for our new "world drummers."

The one absorbing topic of the convention is the attitude of the British admiralty toward American shipping. On this subject many opinions on the negotiations between the United States and British Governments may result.

The great advance in ocean freight rates is another hardship that will bring out some hot shot, and this subject is expected to lead up to the administration's measure for government purchase of ships to break the rates, furnish the bottoms and insure the natural growth of exports.

Baseball days will soon be here as adjudged from the spring "sap" which has already begun to bubble through the limbs of some of the younger generation of sand-lotters.

Billy Luce and "Neeley" O'Hara have already felt that annual awakening and after several months of hibernating near a sizzling hot stove will soon ramble to the First street grounds where they will shake a leg and again realize the joy of living.

Manager Luce has not been idle in baseball matters as is shown by the fact that he has arranged a three game series with St. Mary's college to be played on February 14th, March 23rd and April 4th.

Following on the heels of the college series will come a game with the Oakland Coast Leaguers as a grand preliminary to the embarkment in the State League.

OPEN CONVENTION ON FOREIGN TRADE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 21.—A great gathering of the leaders of American commercial life to discuss the new phases of our commerce with foreign countries was welcomed to St. Louis this morning by Secretary of Commerce W. C. Redfield, Mayor Henry W. Kiel, and Samuel D. Capen, president of the St. Louis Business Men's League. Quite the most important meeting of American business men held in modern days is the convention which began today, for many new problems have arisen from the European War; problems that vex the most able manufacturers and hinder the great expansion of foreign commerce now under way.

C. Redfield, Mayor Henry W. Kiel, and Samuel D. Capen, president of the St. Louis Business Men's League.

Quite the most important meeting of American business men held in modern days is the convention which began today, for many new problems have arisen from the European War; problems that vex the most able manufacturers and hinder the great expansion of foreign commerce now under way.

Representatives of trade boards, chambers of commerce and commercial organizations from all parts of the United States comprise the Second National Trade Convention. So important are the issues that the majority of the real commercial leaders have come personally to the convention. The government's foreign trade experts are here, in person, and Secretary Redfield has brought the information which his department has gathered from all ends of the earth on trade conditions.

"Foreign Banking, Loans and Credits" the subject assigned to Benjamin Joy, a Boston banker, has proven to be one of the problems of trade extension. For it was the financial situation in many lands, particularly in South America, that held back the natural growth of exports to those countries. American banking has not kept pace with its foreign trade, it was pointed out.

The German and English bankers and French financiers had been the bone and sinew of business in South America. The sudden wiping away of this staff forced home to Americans that they must supplant the financial aid if they were to grasp the benefit of the new trade openings.

One of the most interesting papers is that of John Bassett Moore, on "Problems Arising in War and Commerce." For it was the financial situation in many lands, particularly in South America, that held back the natural growth of exports to those countries. American banking has not kept pace with its foreign trade, it was pointed out.

The German and English bankers and French financiers had been the bone and sinew of business in South America. The sudden wiping away of this staff forced home to Americans that they must supplant the financial aid if they were to grasp the benefit of the new trade openings.

One of the most interesting papers is that of John Bassett Moore, on "Problems Arising in War and Commerce." This afternoon the first subject is "Government Regulation of Commerce as Affecting Foreign Trade," and many expressions will be heard on this topic. Problems of the smaller manufacturers will then be taken up by able speakers.

Tonight the banquet will be served, at which Alba B. Johnson of Philadelphia will be toastmaster.

Tomorrow's meeting will be devoted to the merchant marine problem, which is agitating the country just now. The viewpoint of manufacturers, exporters and government representatives will be presented. Commercial education for foreign trade is another subject set for tomorrow. Prof. Edwin F. Gay of Harvard will present the principal paper. It will be pointed out that the study of Spanish, French and German languages is one of the greatest requirements for our new "world drummers."

S. O. COMPANY IS LOSER WHEN PIPE LINE BURSTS

A disastrous break occurred in the Standard Oil company's main pipe which runs to the refinery in this city from Taft. The oil flooded the county road near Taft and required a special crew of men being rushed to the spot who labored for some time before the break could be repaired.

The local office was unable to give out the amount of oil which had been lost.

ALAMEDA COUNTY SUPERVISOR IS FINED $250

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—Justice of the Peace Robert Edgar yesterday morning imposed a fine of $250 upon Supervisor Fred W. Foss of the Foss Lumber Co. for maintaining and operating a lumber mill in a block where there are private residences, contrary to the ordinance of the city covering such matters. This is the maximum fine provided and the court explained that it would be held in abeyance until reasonable time had been given the defendant to obey the ordinance as the mill had been established on Center street near Grove before the enactment of the law.

Foss was formerly a councilman of the city of Berkeley and at present represents that district of the county upon the board of supervisors.

GEORGIA COLLEGE ALIENS AFTER FIFTY YEARS

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 21.—With the laying today of the cornerstone of the new Oglethorpe University, the glory and traditions of the famous old institution that flourished in ante-bellum days, was revived. Today the beginning was made for the arising of an extensive stone structure just outside the city, to replace in education, in tradition, in glory and fame the old university at Milledgeville which was destroyed during the Civil War.

Oglethorpe University is a Presbyterian institution, and is being rebuilt and financed by that denomination in the south. The plans call for 20 buildings. The first quadrangle of buildings for which the money has been raised will consist of four structures and will cost $500,000. All are to be of Georgia granite.

Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, executive representative of the institution, had charge of the exercises today. In attendance were a group of alumni of the old university. There are about fifty alumni now living. Sidney Lanier, the poet, was a graduate of Oglethorpe, and many of the south's greatest men were trained there.

BASEBALL MAGNATES TO FACE BAR OF JUSTICE

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 20.—When a group of lawyers representing the rival factions in the baseball war appear today in the United States District Court, the entire structure of the professional end of the great national pastime will be revealed, debated and subjected to court decision. An extended controversy in the courts is in prospect, for the result of an adverse ruling on either side would involve so many men and fortunes that it is believed the case will go to the higher courts, and probably to the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Keneaw M. Landis will today hear the arguments on the anti-trust suit brought on January 4th by the Federal League of Professional Baseball Clubs against the National League, the American League and the members of the National Commission. The Federal managers have long been preparing evidence to sustain their claim that the national agreement for the government of professional baseball which was entered into between the National and American Leagues and the National Association in 1903 was not for the perpetuation of baseball as a national pastime, but for the purpose of perpetuating professional baseball in the hands of the contracting parties; that those with in the combination might be safeguarded against any competition.

With this claim in their court petition is the assertion that the purpose of the agreement was that it "might so dominate and control players that the engagement of their services by any person or club outside the combination would be difficult if not impossible." Another clause in the complaint argued today asks "that the said defendants shall be decreed as forming part of a combination, conspiracy and monopoly in violation of the common law, in contravention of the anti-trust and monopoly statutes, and in restraint of trade and commerce, and in derogation of the constitutional right of contract, and that said defendants be enjoined from further continuing or doing business as a part of or in connection with said combination, conspiracy or monopoly."

The suit seeks relief of Federal players from the alleged "black list," threats, injunctions, etc.; that the contracts existing under the national agreement be declared null and void; that the defendants be ordered to discontinue the various court actions now pending against Federal players; that the national agreement and its rules be declared illegal, and that writs of injunction and subpoena be issued. The charge is made in the complaint that sum "in excess of $25,000," was received by the National Commission from the recent world's series and that this has been added to other moneys accumulated, and that it is being used with surplus of the National and American Leagues "for the purpose of undertaking to oppress and injure or destroy" the Federal League.

The reply which will be given to the charges at the hearing promises to be equally vitriolic. President Herrman of the National Commission has promised some hot shot in return, and that the answer will be "both astounding and surprising" to the baseball world.

The disclosing of the "inside" of organized baseball will be a study in finance and contracts, instead of a sporting feature. The many phases under which contracts are signed will figure. It will be maintained that baseball players seldom realize all the ramifications of the contracts to which they affix their signatures, many of them taking little heed of the details outside the main chance, that they are on the playing field under liberal remuneration. The financial reapings of the club owners, which may also be revealed, are an interesting study for owners and managers, but will scarcely please the fans who carry the load.

Baseball, the game, conceded to be the biggest and fairest sport in the world today, is not on trial in the Chicago court. The financing and rivalries of the magnates comprise the issue. The baseball players, as pawns in the game, are taking a lively interest, and many of them are on hand to hear the case.

In consulting the suit today, the defendants have put their interests all in the hands of the attorneys for the National Commission, and a few, if any, of the individual club owners will be directly represented. The attorneys on both sides are prominent in their profession, and no loopholes will be overlooked on either side.

He doesn't believe in trying to learn through reading on these matters, because of the number of contradictions on the main facts.

Several representatives of the glass industry in Pennsylvania also sailed for South America today on the Kroenland.

CLUBS AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS AFTER TROPHY

The contest for the beautiful punch bowl service offered to the most popular organization is creating the keenest rivalry among local fraternal orders, unions and church societies.

The voting has been very heavy since the beginning and interest is growing daily. The voting for the first five days of the contest shows hardly 100 points difference between the leaders and the lowest contenders, all are very much in the race.

The punch service will be on display in the show windows of the Red Front Variety Store on Macdonald avenue, at 11th street, where the voting is also being conducted.

The result of the first week's balloting will be published in the Record-Herald on Friday evening, January 22nd.

SANTA FE HEAD CAUSES INVESTIGATION AT CALWA

CALWA, Jan. 21.—General denials were made yesterday by S. B. Leas, on behalf of the Calwa Townsite company and R. W. Hobart, former commercial agent of the Santa Fe, that Santa Fe engineers had been compelled to purchase town lots which the railroad had previously purchased at Calwa and Riverbank.

Leas, who is a stockholder and sales agent for the Calwa Townsite company, asserted that in no case had any compulsion been used but that where sales had been made, the greatest of courtesy had been extended. Only a small part of the engineers residing there have purchased property he asserted, and all of these purchased of their own free will.

The principal stockholders of the company are W. E. G. Saunders, S. B. Leas, George P. Beveridge and Frank Malcolm. Hobart owns a one-tenth interest and Superintendent Walker a one-sixteenth interest.

Leas also stated that the charges had been made before and had been brought to the attention of President Ripley of the Santa Fe. Investigation had been made and the fact that nothing had been done.

Leas said the charges were groundless.

R. W. Hobart, now president of the First National Bank of Riverbank, made the following statement regarding the situation there: "There are about twenty engineers holding property in Riverbank. Less than half of these purchased property in which Mr. Walker and myself have an interest. The others bought property in which we have no interest whatever. Not 5 per cent of the train and engineers of the valley division have ever owned property in Riverbank, and those who own Riverbank property are entirely satisfied as far as I can learn. Neither Mr. Walker or myself ever endeavored to force or coerce any employee of the Santa Fe to purchase property, and those who did purchase, did so of their own free will. Statements to the contrary are as absurd as they are untrue."

Superintendent Walker could not be seen yesterday as he was out of the city.

It was asserted here yesterday that Hobart and Walker own about two-thirds of the land at Riverbank, within the townsite.

THE EUROPEAN WAR IN BIBLE PROPHECY.

Undreamed of passions have burst forth, devouring the lands that patient hands have beautified and made fertile, and centuries have stocked with art treasures. To the entire world the war has come as a complete surprise because they have not read our book (200 pages—cloth) telling that just such conditions would exist only to be followed by the still greater devastation of anarchy. The first edition came from the press in 1897.

A man, while arguing, will say that this or that is believed by most men, but the fact is he doesn't know what most men believe.
